

VALE 2018

"Innovate, Create, Collaborate: Moving Libraries Forward."

A Nobel Prize and the library forming partnerships to highlight good news

Margery Ashmun
Reference Librarian

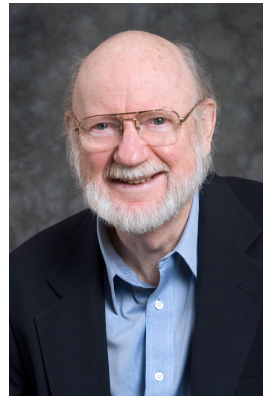

DREW

Big news

October 2015

How could the Library help support and celebrate?

Dr. William C. Campbell

VALE 2018

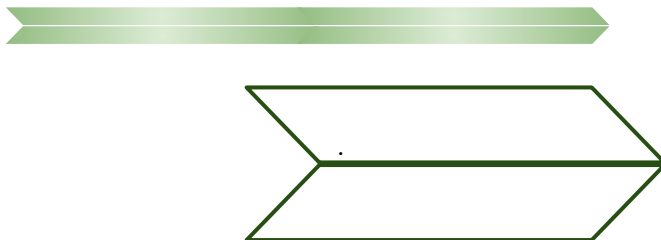

The search

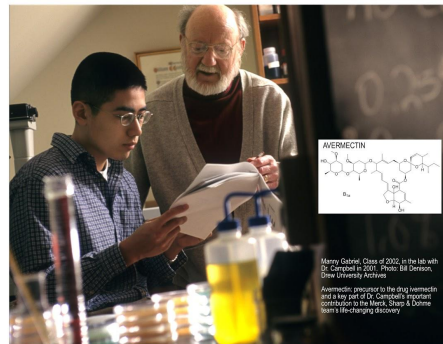

DREW

VALE 2018

The results

CELEBRATING DREW FELLOW DR. WILLIAM C. CAMPBELL 2015 NOBEL LAUREATE IN MEDICINE

Dr. William C. Campbell has mentored Drew University students in university labs for 20 years as a Fellow with the Research Institute for Scientists Emeriti—RISE. Today, as a RISE Associate Fellow, he visits campus to present lectures to Honors Science students. Before beginning his association with Drew, Campbell conducted research at Merck, Sharp & Dohme for over three decades, where as part of a team, he developed drugs that have significantly lowered the incidence of the debilitating diseases river blindness and lymphatic filariasis.

Some of the materials for this exhibit were provided or loaned by RISE; The Merck Archives; Merck, Sharp & Dohme Corp.; the Drew University Biology and Chemistry departments; Drew University Office of Communications; Drew University Archives, and the official website of the Nobel Prize.

Curated by Margery Ashmun, Reference Librarian

DREW UNIVERSITY LIBRARY
NOVEMBER 15, 2015—FEBRUARY 22, 2016

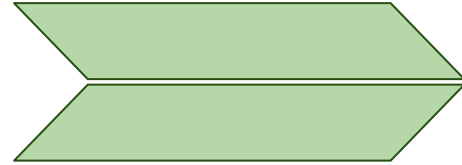

DREW

VALE 2018

DREW

Takeaways...

Now GO!

- Find your “thing”
- Be fearless and creative
- Figure out the politics (if any) and promote, promote promote your project!

VALE 2018

Thank you

DREW

VALE 2018

Special thanks to:

The Special Collections and Archives staff and faculty at Drew Library

- Chris Anderson
- Matthew Beland
- Kim Magnell
- Masato Okinaka

RISE:

- Jon Kettenring, Director
- Nilya Schaber, Executive Assistant
- Ron Doll, RISE Fellow
- Maureen Dock and Laureen Chapin

Merck&Co:

- Dennis Manion, Senior Director of Global Communications
- Kyra Lanzing, Director of Branding
- Patti McKenna, Chief Heritage Advocate
- Ken Gustavsen, Executive Director, Corporate Responsibility
- Marc Steinman, Executive Director of Pharmaceutical Sciences, Merck Animal Health

And of course....Dr. William C. Campbell

DREW