It Takes a Village: Improving Access to Archival and Unique Collections Through Collaboration
Christina Getaz & Kim Lynch, Caldwell University

Discussion questions:
- Have you worked on successful or unsuccessful projects to increase findability of archival collections recently?
  - How have you collaborated with campus IT, vendors, and others to make this happen?
  - What relevant capacity / support do you have (or not have) within the library (e.g. internal IT or developers or other positions/expertise)? How did this contribute to or limit your work?
  - What were the goals of the projects? How did the initial goals compare to the outcome?

- If you had all of the resources you needed, what is the archival discovery project of your dreams?
